

Traffic Management Trainee

High-Speed

About the role

The work that a Traffic Management Operative does can be life-changing. You'll be making roads safe so that road workers can undertake the work that needs to be done, and to ensure that road users and the public get home safely. It's not easy and it involves long hours, night shifts, patience, and teamwork but it's extremely rewarding, knowing that you're adding so much value to the community and to people's lives.

There's never been a better time to join our team. We have had our most successful year ever and are continuing to grow significantly which is why we need you.

We will provide you with all the training and qualifications you need to become fully certified. So, if you have a great work ethic, like to work outdoors, enjoy being part of a team, and have a positive attitude this is a job for you.

There are a range of benefits that come with the role, and the following is not an exhaustive list.

Benefits

- Stability and security from Chevron's long-term contracts
- Largest traffic management company in the UK with 45+ locations and growing
- Part of the Ramudden Global network of infrastructure safety companies
- Paid qualifications
- Company van
- Industry-leading benefits including:
 - Company pension scheme
 - Employee rewards scheme
 - Life assurance with 24/7 GP appointments, free physio and counselling for you and your family

General hours of work are 40 hours per week, depending on location. Hours and shifts include days, evenings, nights and weekends with the option of overtime as required. You may also be required to be on the on-call rota.

About Chevron Traffic Management

Chevron TM is the largest traffic management company in the UK. We specialise in the provision of temporary traffic management services nationwide, providing physical and digital traffic controls to ensure that works are carried out safely, and road workers and the general public are kept safe.

We manage temporary traffic for organisations working within utilities, construction, rail, urban and high-speed networks, and events. We also give expert support from the consultation and design phase, right through to work completion and sign-off. We place huge emphasis on our performance and ability to deliver, and to meet and exceed our clients' expectations.

What good looks like to be a Traffic Management Operative

- Be physically fit and able to pass a medical
- Possess a full driving licence, with no more than 6 points
- Able to pass a drug and alcohol test
- Have a positive “can-do” attitude with the ability to work well in a team
- Have a strong commitment to safety and adhering to protocols at all times
- Be adaptable and flexible
- Have meticulous attention to detail

Desirable (but not essential)

- Qualified Lantra 12D card
- Knowledge of Chapter 8
- HGV licence/IPV Ticket

How to apply

So, if you want to join a winning team and be part of an innovative organisation which is focused on employee progression and company growth, please visit our careers site at ChevronTM.com/careers or send your CV to careers@ChevronTM.com.