JO DE HAVE YOUR BACK

BE A PART OF THE MOST EFFICIENT EX-MILITARY EMPLOYMENT COMMUNITY

ENTER JOBOppO

We also know that companies (particularly ERS award-winning companies) are keen to fill their active job listings with Ex-Military personnel - taking advantage of their unique set of skills and expertise.

We know first-hand that the transition from 'Military life to Civilian life' is often not an easy one. The Ex-Military community are actively seeking new opportunities that best reflect their abilities, but are unable to find the right support and role.

JobOppO was founded by Ex-Military, for Ex-Military.

OUR STORY

JOINTHAVE YOUR BACK

We drive our active, engaged audience of Ex-Military personnel directly to job listings.

By acting as the connecting hub, we support both candidates and our company partners. Ve take pride in the difference we are making to the UK job landscape, one placement at a time.

OUR MISSION

To create the most efficient Ex-Military employment platform.

We cut out all the middle men. No recruiters. No account managers. No third-party software.

THE HAVE YOUR BACK

Veteran Dave Watson, is an inspiring, motivational speaker who is renowned within the Ex-Military community. A triple amputee, following a life-changing incident on tour in Afghanistan back in 2010, he openly talks about his personal experiences since leaving the Military. He is an advocate for our platform and says:

"I know how hard it is coming out of the military, especially if the military was the first place you went to straight from school. When you leave the military, you don't know anything else. It is hard to get back into civilian life".

When I heard about JobOppO, I wanted to get involved straight away

EDUCATION

Traversing the translation gap between the military and "civvy street" skills is critical to ensuring potential employers are discussing the job, not just a job with any potential ex-military hire. JobOppO works to support HR/Recruitment teams s to understand the unique skills, knowledge and attitude veterans and service leavers can offer their organisation. Resources include but are not limited to the following.

- Downloadable educational content
- Fact sheets
- Webinars
- Insight days
- Testimonials

AWARENESS & RECOGNITION

If you, as an employer, are committed to the JobOppO community and to the provision of support to veterans & service leavers, then we want to help you promote this with you. We will help you demonstrate your commitment by providing candidates insight to your sector or organisation demographics, career paths, support programmes and success stories – all with a view to offering the veteran an understanding to the support, culture, and opportunity your company can offer.

We offer this several ways:

- Microsites
- Employer Podcasts/interviews
- Spotlight Armed Forces Champions
- Exclusive video content
- Media publications
- Event sponsorships

RECRUITMENT ADVERTISING

Operating in a similar fashion to any traditional job board, employers can advertise their vacancies to JobOppOs large pool of veterans and service leavers individuals who all share one fairly unique and admirable similarity; they have been trained by and served in the British Armed Forces.

Whilst our 3 core pillars supplement the recruitment process, our USPs have been designed to maximise the experience and results for employers and veterans alike. These are:

- additional content is aggregated around the internet
 - are quality assets to offer any employer.

Every candidate is manually verified to ensure they have served in the British Military. We are an exclusive community ensuring no jobs adverts, contact information or

We do not work with recruitment agencies. This streamlines the recruitment process, minimising employer's fee and maximises the candidate experience. All veterans welcome. Regardless of when they left or how long they served, a Military career along with the experience, skills, knowledge, and attitude it brings
